Spiritual Regeneration: Need of the Hour

Crying Need for Country's Spiritual Rejuvenation

Crying Need for Country's Spiritual Rejuvenation

The spiritual and cultural rejuvenation of the country has become overdue. It has been happening at different intervals from the Vedic times. Historically, India has shown the light of knowledge and wisdom to the world. This knowledge got gradually destroyed due to decline in State patronage and may be because of some conscious efforts by the Moghul and more vehemently by the British. It is no secret, now, that all advanced nations have undertaken extensive research on ancient Indian texts. Most of the scientific inventions, over the years, we will find that they are based on postulates given by great Indian sages e.g. Dattatreya, Agustya, Yagyavalkya, Vashistha, Vishvamitra, Astavakra, Vedvyas, Aryabhat, Bhaskaracharya, Kanad, Nagarjuna, Charak, Sushrut, Varahmihir, Patanjali, Bharadwaj, Kapil etc. Many years ago, Lord Maculay and German scholar Max Mueller were among the first to take note of the golden era of spiritualism in India. Max Mueller wrote about 'what India teaches us'. It is necessary to understand the context of Indian spiritualism and culture. Culture implies a beautiful creation. Foreign scholars have created a misconception about the term culture and spiritualism. It has become necessary to present the divine voice of the Vedas in a new light in the 21st century. It will not do to claim that the Vedas had mentioned about planes attacking targets with deadly weapons. In the 19th and 20th centuries there was a strong wave to infuse new life in the teachings of the Vedas. Swami Dayanand took the revolutionary step of taking the Vedas to women and the lower castes. At a meeting in Mumbai, he said that if what he says is wrong it should be rejected. The 19th century revolutionary Swami Vivekanand raised the banner of Indian culture at a world religious conference in America. Indian religious and spiritual thinkers defined the term Arya as meaning the best. It may be recalled that Swami DayanandSaraswati and Swami Vivekanand were at the forefront of the freedom movement in the 19th century.

In the 20thcentury, Lokmanya BalGangadhar Tilak presented the Gita in a new light and wrote books on solar energy. In the 20th century, scholar Shri T.V. Kapali Sastri presented a new interpretation of the Rig Veda. He surprised everyone by the contemporaneous frame in which he explained the intricacies and mysteries in the words, language and principles in the ancient Rig Vedas, as enshrined in the treatises of Acharya Sayan and Acharya Yasak. Acharya Yasak has acknowledged that he did not understand the meanings of certain difficult words used in the Vedas. In the Rig Veda a word may refer to fame but at another place it may have a culinary connotation. Shri Kapali Sastri has tried to end many controversies about the Vedic texts by reinterpreting the meaning of certain words like 'Gau' (cow) and Saraswati. Mahamahopadhyay Sri Sripad Damodar Satwelkar, Mahamahopadhya Shri Madhusudan Ojha and some others followed the same tradition. The mysteries about the Vedic gods of fire, wind, storm, light, sun, Ashwinikumar, Indra, Varun, Poosha etc have been lifted by Maharishi Arvind, MM Satwelkar, MM Shri Ojha, Acharya Bhaskar Rai and Shri Kapali Sastri, Dr. Kapil Dev Dwivedi, Pt. Bhagwad Dutt, Sh. Gurudutt, Sh. Rele etc.. The Vedic mantras have been well explained in Brahmin treatises. The mystery world of the Vedas was confined to the intellectual world of the Rishis and Munis. The story tellers performed the yeoman task of interpreting the ancient Puranas to the common man. The 18 Puranas are the source of Indian culture, religion and spiritualism. But it is not necessary to accept all the stories in the Puranas. Upanishads followed the rejuvenation of the religious spirit. The more than 149 compilations of thoughts and memoires (Samhita) of Rishis that form part of ancient Indian literature are also part of the exercise of religious rejuvenation. Its foundation was laid by the literary outpourings of the ancient Rishis. Rishi Yagyavalakya advises against taking 'sanyas' (renunciation), though many other sages do not agree with this view. The works of the ancient sages and Rishis needs to be scientifically studied. The magical power of AksharNaad is used in the recitation of mantras and religious prayers. The recitation of Sanskrit mantras in three different 'swaras' (tones) has been prescribed.

In the 20thcentury,Gyangang dikshit Paramhans Vishudhananad used to perform the miracle of reviving dead birds in Gyanganj, situated in the lap of the god's own Himalayas, with the help of the power of the Sun and mantras. (See, Paul Briton's 'Search of Secret India.). With his power of concentration he was able to transport (teleport) himself hundreds of miles away to provide timely cure to the needy. C.W Leadbeater has predicted the day of divine visit in the Himalayas. How the semi-naked loin cloth wearing, ash-smeared Sadhus roam in the holy Kailash Mansarovar of Lord Shiv! The Shabar mantra in common Hindi that conveys the Vedic mantras to the ordinary person has the same magical powers. During their time AdiShankaracharya and Guru Gorakhnath sounded the bugle of religious rejuvenation and unified India. In all corners of India, East or West, North or South, Sanskrit is used for all prayers and religious invocations. During the middle ages the saint poets rejuvenated religion with the Bhakti cult. These saints tried to uproot religious hypocrisy. In the last 300 years during the colonial British rule these saint poets fought against the British rule and many of them were martyred. The history of these martyred saint poets has never been written. We should take pride in the pre-Christ era's Kautilya Arthshastra by Acharya Vishnugupt Chanakya as a symbol of Indian intellectualism. Bankim holds YogirajShrikrishna as relevant to the present. Our cultural values demand that Dharma should guide our administration. Dharma has to be taken to mean justice. The world has acknowledged the Indian concept of Universal Brotherhood. Indian culture came under severe attack after Independence. The moral yardsticks of Indian culture were torn apart. From the Vedas to the Puranas, all are being neglected. It is unfortunate that the forgotten Indian practices and concepts are hailed loudly when they return to the country only after finding acceptance in the West. We do not value our inheritance. Religious and cultural rejuvenation will not come about by merely talking loudly about the Vedas. It is the need of the hour to present in a contemporary form our religious and spiritual inheritance embodied in the Vedas and Puranas and other books and scriptures written 39,00,000 to 15,00,000 years ago. The cultural research organizations have to take up this job. A religious-cultural rejuvenation programme has to start to unfold the mysteries of the Vedic culture. A new beginning has to be made to let the world know about the mysterious powers of the ancient Indian wisdom.

Indian Thought: Magical, Divine, Spiritual Music & Books

The spiritual music & Books of India, once the spiritual Guru of the world, has once again drawn attention of the world. India has had a long tradition of spiritually strong music that predates the Vedic era. The Rishi of the Vedic era with their divine power received the knowledge of the Vedas directly from Brahma in the form of music. The compilation of the Vedas began with the songs of the gods. Studies have revealed that musical ties brought Greece, Iran, China, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia and India closer to each other. It is very important to render the correct notes while reciting the mantras and religious chants in Buddhism, Jainism and the Sanatan Dharma.

The Indian spiritual thought is based on faith and trust but the West wants to scrutinize it scientifically. The ancient sacred books equate the mind with the mantras. The purpose of the mantra is to relieve one of problems. The recitation of spiritual music in all its forms fills the body with energy. In meditation, the recitation of the mantras concentrates positive energy. They also reveal the secrets and mysteries of divine powers. India and Egypt share the seed letter for the Sun god. The ancient holy books have references about how after many years of meditation the sages were able to see Brahma in the skies in the form of letters. Thousands of years ago the sages of ancient India had proved the power of the letter and the science of sound. During their meditation, the Rishis of India had determined the notes in three octaves for singing the mantras.

The Rishi-Munis always believed that before reciting a mantra it is necessary to understand its meaning. It helps to make the power of the mantra more manifest. It has also been necessary to recite the mantra in pure prescribed tones. For example, Maharaishi Valmiki's SundarKand recitation should be absolutely tuneful lasting nine hours. Scholars have, however, not recommended its rendition in the form of pure song. Wrong recitation, on the other hand, renders the whole exercise meaningless. Shri P.V. Ramakrishna Prasad, information adviser of a former prime minister, has in his book given a vivid description of the rain after Shri Varun Yagyna was performed at the Tirupati Devalaya. From the Vedas to the Tantra Shashtras, all have given a classical shape to the singing of hymns. According to the Vedic texts, astonishing results are obtained after the intense vibrations generated by the spiritual music create positiv energy. It is believed that in the Hiamlayan abode of the gods lives the 28th Manu. We do not want to go into what this belief is about. There is no dearth of people in the country who believe in the power of the mantras and thousands of manifestations of god power.

The contemporary world is familiar with the amazing power of Shabar mantras mention of which is found in texts from the Vedic era to Goswamy Tulsidas's RamcharitManas. The magic of these mantras is known to the Naath community but the correct interpretation of the mantras is nearly imposible. The words in the Vedic mantras have their importance because of which Brahmi,Pali and Prakrit lanuagues were popular. The religious philosophies of the Buddhists and Jains are written in Pali and Prakrit. The legacy of India's magical mantras is kept hidden by the Bhotias of Tibet. But it is true that with the passage of time and changing circumstances the character of the mantras has changed. Indian thought is very clear that only the knowledegeable can turn the tide of time. Knowledge alone rides over time.

Think India: Spiritual Music & Books

Indian thought i.e. books and spiritual music provide a way out of today's troubled world. There is a dearth of those who can correctly read and recite the spiritual and religious texts of India. To overcome this shortcoming a centre for research on Indian spiritual music and Indian thoughts will be set up. It will include the contributions of the Sanatan Dharama, Buddhism, Jainism and other religions and their rare works in the field.

There is need to encourage research and study on all kinds of religious and spiritual literature in print as well as audio-visual forms.

Honour will be bestowed on the best reciters of spiritual, religious music and awards will be given to such persons as it will encourage spiritual regeneration in the country.

A national register of all types of spiritual and religious music produced by musical companies & reciters will facilitate the availability of the best of spiritual music with the push of a button.

The first national fair will be held in the national capital on all religious and spiritual literature in audio-visual and book form in Indian languages.

ADHYATMIK AMRITUM : Spiritual Music & Books

The spiritual and cultural rejuvenation of the country has become overdue. It has been happening at different intervals from the Vedic times.

The spiritual books & music of India, once the spiritual Guru of the world, has once again drawn attention of the world. The importance of the sound of Naad Brahma has been accepted from the Vedic age. The Vedic age described the godly power of the Akshar Brahma Swara, the voice of Brahma. In the Ramayana and the Mahabharata the word has been called the Supreme Brahma. All forms of mantras, religious recitations and prayers derive their mysterious powers on this basis.

The compilation of the Vedas began with the songs of the brahma. Studies have revealed that musical ties brought Oraion, Greece, Iran, China, Cambodia, Thailand, Malaysia and India closer to each other. It is very important to render the correct notes while reciting the mantras and religious chants in Buddhism, Jainism and the Sanatan Dharma.

The industrial, urban and highly consumerist societies are presenting extremely complicated and complex world views leading to pathless and frivolous generations. We are again having to fall back upon the principles of Indian spiritualism, yoga and ayurveda for human well being. Slowly, we are reaching a conclusion that modern science has little answers to human disease except for ineffective quick fixes.

The answers to all human woes are hidden in our ancient texts and it has now become imperative that we revisit our heritage that had been relegated to the background in the face of the concept of 'modern scientific temper'. Our tradition and heritage is no different from this concept, it only is more scientific.

Indian thought and spiritual music provide an escape from today's troubled world. There is a lack of people who can correctly read and recite spiritual and religious texts. To overcome this shortcoming a centre for research on Indian spiritual music and philosophy is being set up. This Centre shall encourage research and study of all kinds of religious and spiritual literature in print as well as audio-visual forms.

Register of Spiritual, Religious Music

The ancient Indian practice of 'Mantra, Tantra and Yantra' (sacred utterances, mystical practices and science) explains the universal power of the alphabets and the importance of science. The mystique behind the power of the alphabets has been revealed layer by layer by the ancient Rishis and Munis of India. YogirajShrikrishna called Akshar (alphabet) the ParamBrahm, meaning the Ultimate Creator. The correct enunciation of the Mantra with the right intonation is of utmost importance. Ancient texts give clear directions on the tone of each syllable in the mantras. Specific directions have also been given on the way how the Stotra, Ashtak, Shatnam, Sahasranam, Digbandhan, Kavach, Hridaya, Saptak, DarunSaptak, Shanti Stotra, Atharvashirsh, Gayatri, Shatisotra, Mool Mantra etc are to be recited. Also, how many times a particular Mantra is to be recited during the course of a day. The exact Swara is important in the recitation of ShriRudra Path, Shri Shiv MahimStotra, ShriLankeshwarRavankrit, Shiv TandavStotra, ShriMahasaraswatiStotra, Shri Devi KharagmalaStotra, Devi Shaptshati, ShriLalitaSahasranam, ShriLaxmiShasranam, ShriBalaStotra, Shri Shiv Sahasranam, ShriVishnu Sahasranam, ShriSudarshanSahasranam, ShriAdityaHridaya, ShriAdityaShatnam, ShriSharabhStotra, Devi PratyangiraStotra, Shri Devi ShaliniStotra, ShriMahishasurMardanStotra, ShriMahaganpatiStotra, the Sundarkand of the Mahabharat, ShriNavgrahStotra etc.

The problem today is that there is an acute shortage of those who can correctly recite these Mantras and Stotras in Sanskrit with the right intonations.Incorrect recitation of the Mantras can be harmful in the future. It is also prescribed that before reciting a Mantra its meaning should be clearly understood by the reciter.

Basically, the Mantras recited correctly are capable of releasing tremendous positive energy. If it is not possible to recite a Mantra in the correct ascending and descending order then the alternative is to hear it in as pure a form as possible.
To test the power of the Mantras, physicians have recorded the effect of thesound of the Mantras on patients in hospitals. The results have been astounding.

The worship of the sun by the MahamatyaShriBhaskarRai of Bidar in the 18th century and the recitations by MahakaviKalidas, MahakaviMayour cured a lot of patients afflicted with incurable diseases. Swami VishudhanandParamhansperformed the miracle of bringing to life a dead bird with the help of Shri Surya Vigyan.

After years of debate the Western world has acknowledged that the supreme power of the Mantras in the Vedas has existed in space since time immemorial. It proves that the universe of the alphabets can never be destroyed. The supreme powers of the Vedas will continue to live even after the end of the world. The need of the hour is to unravel the power of the Mantras scientifically for the benefit of the humanity.

With this purpose letters and e-mails are being sent to the 255 companies in the country which deal in spiritual Bhakti music with a request for supplying the list of their publications. In the meanwhile, the list of the available divine music compositions is being presented. The list will be expanded after receiving fresh information. The second phase of our work, God willing, will consist of subject wise categorisation of the musical compositions of Shaiva-Shakt-Vaishnav-Saurya-Ganpati etc.
